CELL ART

Directions: For this activity you will choose an artist/type of art and use that particular style to create a painting of a cell (plant or animal). Your painting must somehow incorporate the parts of the cell that we have discussed in class. All parts of the cell should be noticeable although it is understandable if they are uniquely incorporated into your painting. For this activity you will get two class periods to complete your painting; thus, it is very important to complete a rough sketch of your ideas prior to starting. You will not be allowed to start your painting until a completed rough sketch is shown to me. I will provide you with oak tag paper, brushes, and paints. Since many of you are talented artists, you may want to bring in some of your own personal supplies! Helpful websites for this activity are: www.Art.com, www.Artchive.com, and www.Artcyclopedia.com.
