Periodic Table – Personal Box

Currently, we are discussing the Periodic Table of Elements, its characteristics, and its uses. As you may know, most periodic tables are composed of many boxes that contain information. For this activity you are going to create a box that would appear on the Periodic Table of Students. Your box should be the size of a standard sheet of paper (8 ½ x 11 inches) and should provide some information about you. You should use the key provided below to complete your box. You may provide additional touches if you would like to.
